WHO PREACHED AT THE DIFFERENT CHURCHES SUNDAY-LARGE CONGREGATIONS AT SOME OF THE CHURCHES-RECOGNITION SERVICES At the Monumental church Rev. Dr. Armstrong, pastor, read the service and preached on Sunday morning. In the afternoon Rev. Pike Powers assisted in reading service and the rector preached. At the close of the sermon Dr. Armstrong came down into the chancel and called the attention of the congregation to the fact that last winter there had been exhibited on the part of some persons who attended the church a degree of irreverence which to him had been almost unbearable. After a certain portion of the service had been gone through with, a number of persons had been in the habit of leaving the church in a body; that some of the members of the church had been so much disturbed that they had stated to him they would be compelled to change their seats or leave the church; that he was determined to pre-serve the dignity and good order of the church as observed and handed down to him from his venerable and highly-respectable predecessor, and that these evidences of irreverence must be corrected; that he was fearfully in earnest and meant everything be said. His remarks were designed chiefly for the galleries; that as he was about to commence speaking he had seen and smelled tobacco-smoke from a cigar coming in through one of the windows of the church. whom these remarks did not apply, and he would be commended by those and he would be commended by those who had been disturbed in the manner in-

Rev. J. H. Eager, the departing missionsreviewed the work of missions for the past eighty years, and spoke with loving enthu-siasm of the encouragements to labor among the unsaved of other lands.

Rev. J. H. Eager and bride (nee Miss Board, of Liberty, Bedford county) have been stopping at Ford's Hotel for several days, and have received a large number of their friends. They go to New York this week, and sail next week for their future home, in Rome, Italy, where Mr. Eager goes to assist Dr. George B. Taylor in his mission work. A fine scholar, an able preacher, a high-their schools, from which we compile the following table, showing the average attoned gentleman, and a most devout and toned gentleman, and a most devout and efficient worker, Mr. Eager will add great strength to this mission of southern Baptists, while his accomplished wife will prove indeed a "helpmeet" not only to him, but to the mission. Mr. Eager's successful labors in Manchester have endeared him not only to that community, but to Richmond, and he carries with him to his distant field the warm sympathies, best wishes, and most fervent prayers of our people. The exercises were closed by an interest-ing address to the missionary by Rev. H.

A. Tupper, D. D., the efficient and able corresponding secretary of the Foreign Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention. Services were conducted at Venable-

Street Baptist church Sunday morning and night by the pastor, Rev. R. H. Pitt. Interesting revival meetings are in progress at this church. Sunday night the church was unable to hold all who desired to attend the services, and many were turned away unable to get in. Two persons were baptized.
The usual services were held in the other

Baptist churches.

Rev. J. William Jones, D. D., has accepted the pastorate of Cool-Spring Baptist church, in Hanover county, preaching there on the first and third Sundays in each month. The church and community have secured the services of a most excellent Baptist churches.

Concert and Reading.—To-night at St.
Mark's church lecture-room Mrs. Reinbardt and Mr. W. H. Grant, Jr., will assist in a concert. Miss Ida Hutzler will give a reading. The notice of the entertainment appears elsewhere.

NO. 88. METHODIST SENDAT-SCHOOL SOCIETY,—
The regular meeting of this Society was held at Clay-Street Methodist church Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock—A. L. West (president) in the chair, J. L. Sims sourcitary. The meeting was opened with singing by Clay-Street school and prayer by Rev. J. E. Edwards.

Rev. J. E. Edwards.

Rev. J. G. Brown, pastor, made a very success in this work.

Rev. William E. Hatcher, D. D., followed in an address to the children on their duty to their teachers. It was full of valuable practical suggestions, presented in his best style, and was listened to by his young and these with rant attention. Rev. 4. G. Brows, pastor, made a very gratifying report of the school connected with Clay-Street church, calling special at-tention to the library of the school, which style, and was listened to by his young ainditers with rapt attention.

The Sunday-school music was under the direction of Colonel William E. Tanner, and was rendered by The schools and congregation in the most impressive manner.
They were aided by the grand organ, at which Mr. M. B. Rames presided, and by Kessnich's orchestra. Mrs. Bernard sang
"There is a Green Hill Bar Away," words from Gospef Songs and music by Gounod.

The Excentive Committee of the Association have determined reveafter to leave the entire arrangement of the programme and character of the exercises of the meettention to the library of the school, which is large, and used not only by the school but by the congregation, who share largely the benefits of the good reading thus provided. He said the school was doing a great and good work, and reported one conversion during the past week. He gave a welcome to all, and referred specially to the presence of Mr. and Mrs. Lambuth, missionaries for twenty years in China, and made a feeling appeal to the Sunday-school workers to show these missionaries that they when in the far-off heathen land have the sympathy and prayers of our Sunday and character of the exercises of the mings of the Association with the sel thus to insure more interesting exercises.

DEATH OF MIR BEVERLY GR.Meg.-Mr. J. Beverly Græme died at the residence of his father, Mr. John Græme, No. 511 north Sixth street, last evening at 8:45 o'clock, in the thirtieth year of his age. The deceased was for many years engaged in the book business in this city, and had been book-keeper and business manager of the Rich-The Superintendent then introduced a beautiful exercise by the following girls and beautiful exercise by the following girls and boys: Leonora Weis, Rinma Weis, Carrie Walters, Leila Barnes, Jennie Weis, Asa Johnson, and others. The exercise consisted of recitations and singing, which was done in excellent style, reflecting great credit on all who participated.

Rev. Dr. J. W. Lambuth, superlatendent of missions in China, with his wife, was present, and addressed the meeting. He referred to the fact that they have a number of Sabhath schools in China which are referred to the fact that they have a number of Sabbath schools in China which are teaching the same international lessons that are being taught by the schools in this country. He stated that these lessons are printed on a printing-press given by a good brother of this city, and referred to the fact with gratitude that a school was supported in China by this Society, and it was called "The Richmond and Manchester school." He gave many incidents connected with it, and made those who heard him feel that the and made those who heard him feel that the Society was doing a good work in supportmost keenly.

Society was doing a good work in supporting that school. It was an interesting fact at 4 o'clock from St James church.

some of the ablest scholars of the age had spent their best efforts, and the most approved appliances known to religious educators had been brought into use in the schools. Yet there was room for still further progress and improvement. A larger number of Christians should be engaged in the work; a higher standard of qualification in teachers should be adopted, and better, more thorough teaching should be secured. Above all, it should be remembered that as the Bible was the only text-book and the salvation of the scholars, the greatered of Sunday-school teaching, the power
